

Word Recognition Skills for Emergent and Early Literacy

September 16
and
October 14, 2022

12:30 - 4:00 PM

Register Online

This 2-part training series for preschool and kindergarten teachers will review skills on the word recognition side of the Simple View of Reading and will include:

- Examples of how critical literacy skills can be explicitly taught and assessed in the classroom
- The progression of word recognition skills from preschool to the end of kindergarten
- Specific strategies to support students with diverse learning needs

Though this training is targeted towards teachers and paraprofessionals who work with preschoolers and kindergarteners, it could also be beneficial for school leaders, directors, and coaches supporting early childhood teachers.

Participants may want to register with a partner preschool or kindergarten teacher in order to support the transition from preschool to kindergarten.

Attendance at both sessions is required for Ohio Approved professional development hours to be provided.
